

CAPABILITY STATEMENT

Capabilities:

Cottonwood Archaeology, headed by Registered Professional Archaeologist Hannah Russell, is a full-service archaeological consulting firm based in Moab, Utah. Cottonwood possesses the archaeological, cultural, legal, and technological expertise to successfully complete any cultural resource project in the state of Utah. Cottonwood's meticulous attention to detail ensures a quality, professional final product.

Cottonwood's services include:

- Section 106 Compliance
- National Register of Historic Places Evaluation
- Archaeological Clearance Surveys
- Archaeological Site Recordation
- Construction Monitoring
- Archaeological Testing and Mitigation
- Preparation of Professional Technical Reports
- Historical and Archival Research

Differentiators:

- While Cottonwood is a new company, Ms. Russell has over a decade of experience in archaeology, and over seven years of experience in Utah.
- Cottonwood is dedicated to protecting cultural heritage and adding to the cannon of cultural knowledge.
- Ms. Russell serves all roles in Cottonwood so the quality of the work is guaranteed to be timely.
- Cottonwood's overhead is minimal ensuring very competitive prices.

Past Performance:

The following is a select list of previous projects completed by Hannah Russell/Cottonwood Archaeology, LLC.

Client	Project	Contact Info.
NPS, Southeast Utah Group	Cultural Resource Inventory FY2015 Restoring Degraded Grasslands, Needles District of Canyonlands National Park	Chris Goetze: (435)719-2134
Canyonlands Field Institute	Archaeological Inventory of Canyonlands Field Institute's Field Camp in Professor Valley	Karla VanderZanden (435)259-7750
Utah State University Wild-land Resources Dept.	Archaeological Inventory of 16 Scientific Plots in San Juan County, Utah	Kyle Nehring kyle.nehring@aggie-mail.usu.edu

Hannah Russell's "excellent performance has contributed greatly to the success of achieving both project and SEUG Cultural Resource management organizational goals as well as improving upon future program objectives."

-Laura Martin, NPS

"We were pleased with the Cottonwood Archaeology's ability to scale the approach appropriately for our needs and that of the private land owner. Ms. Russell of Cottonwood presented CFI with a thorough report on deadline. I found Ms. Russell to be most professional, able to work independently and within our budget; I enjoyed our interactions. We look forward to an ongoing relationship with Cottonwood as consultant and trainer."

-Karla VanderZanden,
Canyonlands Field
Institute

Point of Contact:

Hannah Russell, RPA
Owner, Principal Investigator

Phone:
(435)210-0414

Email:
cottonwoodarch@gmail.com

Website:
www.cottonwoodarchaeology.com

Address:
P.O. Box 573
Moab, UT 84532